the Bankruptcy Reform Act of 1999 (H.R. 833) which on May 5, 1999, passed the House by vote of 313–108, with my support. This Member is an original cosponsor of the Bankruptcy Reform Act, that was introduced by the distinguished Chairman of the Judiciary Subcommittee on Commercial and Administrative Law from Pennsylvania (Mr. GEORGE GEKAS). Moreover, the Senate also passed a version of bankruptcy reform. Unfortunately, at this time, bankruptcy reform is caught in the tangled web of an informal conference; therefore, the three-month extension for Chapter 12 bankruptcy is a necessity for our family farmers

I closing, this Member would encourage his colleagues support for H.E. 1718, which provides a three-month extension of Chapter 12 bankruptcy

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

The CHAIRMAN pro tempore. Pursuant to the order of the House of Friday, June 23, 2000, the gentleman from Michigan (Mr. SMITH) and a Member opposed each will control 5 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Michigan (Mr. SMITH).

Mr. SMITH of Michigan. Mr. Chairman, I yield myself such time as I may consume

Mr. Chairman, this amendment helps assure that we have more accurate statistics that guide over $2 trillion in State and Federal spending and hundreds of billions of dollars in wage decisions and revenue-sharing decisions.

If this amendment had been taken up last week, there were several individuals that had indicated that they would like to speak on the importance of accurately funding BEA, the Bureau of Economic Analysis. That is because we depend so much on what happens with BEA. Seventy percent of our determinations coming from the Congressional Budget Office, coming from the President's Office of management and budget, is from BEA. The ranking member of the Committee on the Budget, the gentleman from South Carolina (Mr. SPRATT) as well as two potential chairmen of that committee indicated that it is important that we adequately fund BEA. This amendment contains $4.3 million that we put into BEA to help make sure that they can do their job.

Here is the problem. They have been cut 12 percent in real terms over the last several years, and the economy is changing so dramatically that they cannot be underfunded with the freeze in personnel they have had for the last several years. It will be difficult if not impossible to do the job we need them to do.

I would just like to quote a couple of people, and I will start out with Alan Greenspan. Alan Greenspan said, and I quote, "I am extraordinarily reluctant to advocate any increase in spending, so it's got to be either a very small amount or a very formidable argument, and I find in this case that both conditions are met."

Mr. Chairman, I would like to quote a comment from Robert Shapiro, Under Secretary for Economic Affairs: "Without your amendment, the bill would seriously threaten our capacity to understand and measure the rapidly changing American economy." Then he goes on to say, the new expanded responsibility that BEA has in this new economy and their predictions are so crucial. BEA tracks economic activity and calculates the U.S. domestic products. BEA statistics underlie virtually all economic projections in both business and government.

Mr. Chairman, I say to the gentleman from New York and the gentleman from Kentucky that I have not gone out and solicited political supporters for this amendment. This is not a very glitzy amendment. It is not very exciting. But please consider its importance. Consider the fact that, without these kinds of estimates being accurate, we are going to end up having very poor economic projections.

According to OMB and CBO, discrepancies in the current GDP data, that is what BEA does, can change estimates of government revenues by as much as $200 billion over the projection period. A recent example: in 1998, CBO projected a unified budget, listen to this, in 1998, CBO projected a unified budget deficit of $70 billion for this year based on BEA estimates. As it turns out, there is a $200 billion surplus. This $270 billion discrepancy can be largely traced to the BEA data.

Mr. Chairman, they have been doing an excellent job, but we have short-changed them. They are 12 percent below what they were in real terms. The President suggested in his budget that we increase them by $5 million; this amendment will only mean that we increase them by $4.3 million.
